Blackboard 9.1 - Edit Mode Overview

When Edit Mode is turned off, you have the same view of the course that a student does.

Compare what the navigation looks like when Edit Mode is off, versus Edit Mode on:
Note that when Edit Mode is switched On, you have the Information and Content menu items available. They do not appear in Off mode because those areas have no content. The vertical arrows to the left of each menu item allow you to click and drag to re-arrange the order of the items. There is also a drop down arrow to the right of the menu item with the following options:

- Rename Link
- Hide Link
- Delete

You can change the name of the link, hide the link from your students (or unhide if you hid it), or delete it if you are not using it.

The link to Add Course Module allows you to both add modules that are not on the front page of your class, or remove others you do not need. The double arrow drop down next to Home Page allows you to change the name, determine whether you want to allow students to customize the Home Page, and whether to permit Guest and Observer access to the course.
